

News

03.06.2019

After many years, the efficient stoves are still in use and a big support in daily life for their families. Through their low need in fuelwood they preserve the tree population, which is rather scarce in the dry project area (the picture shows the region around Ibnat). Soon the long-awaited rainy season will start.

